

who is in charge of the over-all health and appearance of the courts, is a graduate of a two-year Rutgers University course in Fine Turf Management. Our beloved Pat Brady, a native Dubliner and former mechanical engineer, epitomizes the love of the Irish for the land and he and his crew spend many long tiring hours on the day-to-day upkeep of "the grass."

Technically speaking, our courts are a blend of Seaside and Astoria mixture of bent grasses (80% of all golf courses use this blend for their greens). Bent grass spreads and provides a thick dense cover that is excellent for the bounce of a tennis ball. This type of grass propagates itself by spreading runners and giving birth to new plants. If perchance, one should kick out a sod returning a shot, it can either be replaced and over-seeded or re-seeded. Weather, of course, is a prime motivator behind the care of the courts. The grass must be kept firm for footing, yet moist enough to stay alive. According to the experts, the drier the summer, the better—because then our Grounds Crew can control the watering of the grass. A wet, hot summer can be a disaster and disease can run rampant. At present, our grass courts receive protective maintenance with fertilizer chemicals and spraying done every week. When bad weather and disease strike, however, the crew must treat the grass three times a week. The life of the grass also depends on mowing; it is kept at a very low height of one-quarter inch—any higher or lower and the lawn would die.

The summer attention given to the grass is evident to us all, but winter treatment is equal in importance. The grass goes dormant around the first of December, and every fall before the first snow, special chemicals are spread to prevent Snow Mold disease. Holes are punched in the grass to aerate it, fertilizer is added, and then verti-cutting takes place. Good maintenance dictates that verti-cutting takes place once in the fall and in the spring. This process cuts into the turf down to the soil line, produces new shoots, and allows water and air penetration for a smoother surface. Joe Fricovsky tells us that snow covering is best for the grass, but severe problems arise when there are periods of thawing and re-freezing. Grass can exist only for about one month under an ice cover, which must be broken up and removed in order for the grass to breathe. In short, our Grounds Crew deserves applause for their dedication and never-ending vigilance over our lawn tennis courts.

The beauty of the courts, combined with the sylvan atmosphere created by the stately trees of Orange Lawn, affords club members a tranquil setting unequalled in this age of macadam. When William Redmond purchased the Squier farm in 1850 (now Orange Lawn), he imported or purchased most of the trees now standing here today.

Glorious oaks, Douglas firs, European Linden trees, Norway spruces, and flowering fruit trees attest to the international flavor of our environment at Orange Lawn. Space limits a detailed summary, but two magnificent trees bear mention. The Cedar of Lebanon tree, planted over one hundred years ago by William Redmond, is located on the gently sloping hillside outside the Colgate Room, and certainly deserves the title of our One Hundredth Anniversary Tree. The second tree worthy of our attention has been acclaimed by experts at Rutgers University as the most magnificent elm tree in the State of New Jersey. Note has been made of its perfect shape and good health and it has been praised in print. This note-worthy elm stands closest to the small cottage on our grounds and can be seen from the path leading to the paddle courts.

The celebration of our Centennial is a time for retrospection—a time for an appreciative awareness of the history of Orange Lawn, its traditions, and its special setting. As we begin our second hundred years, we carry with us a proud heritage and a promise to preserve the natural beauty of the setting of Orange Lawn. Our formal name indicates our "raison d'être" ... in the past, the present, and the future. Lawn tennis makes us unique ... and may it ever be so.

ORANGE LAWN TENNIS CLUB SWIMMING TEAMS

OLTC was a charter member of the Essex Inter-Club Swimming League when it began in 1958 and its young men and women have been prominent and winning members ever since. The late Donald O. Hobart, OLTC member, governor and Tennis Tournament Director, was the moving force and first president of the League when Essex County Country Club, Essex Fells Country Club, Forest Hill Field Club, Maplewood Country Club, Montclair Golf Club and Orange Lawn Tennis Club were its first members. In 1959 Canoe Brook Country Club and Glen Ridge Country Club joined. Bradford Bath and Tennis Club became a member in 1960 and Short Hills Club in 1962.

Glen Ridge dominated the League until 1964 when OLTC broke its string of 43 consecutive dual meet wins by a score of 95 to 87. This earth-shaking victory was achieved under the direction of Chuck Scranton, Swimming Pool Committee Chairman, John Edack, Pool Director and Coach Dick Duenkel.

Other OLTC Officials were Jack Renz and Steve Stetson.

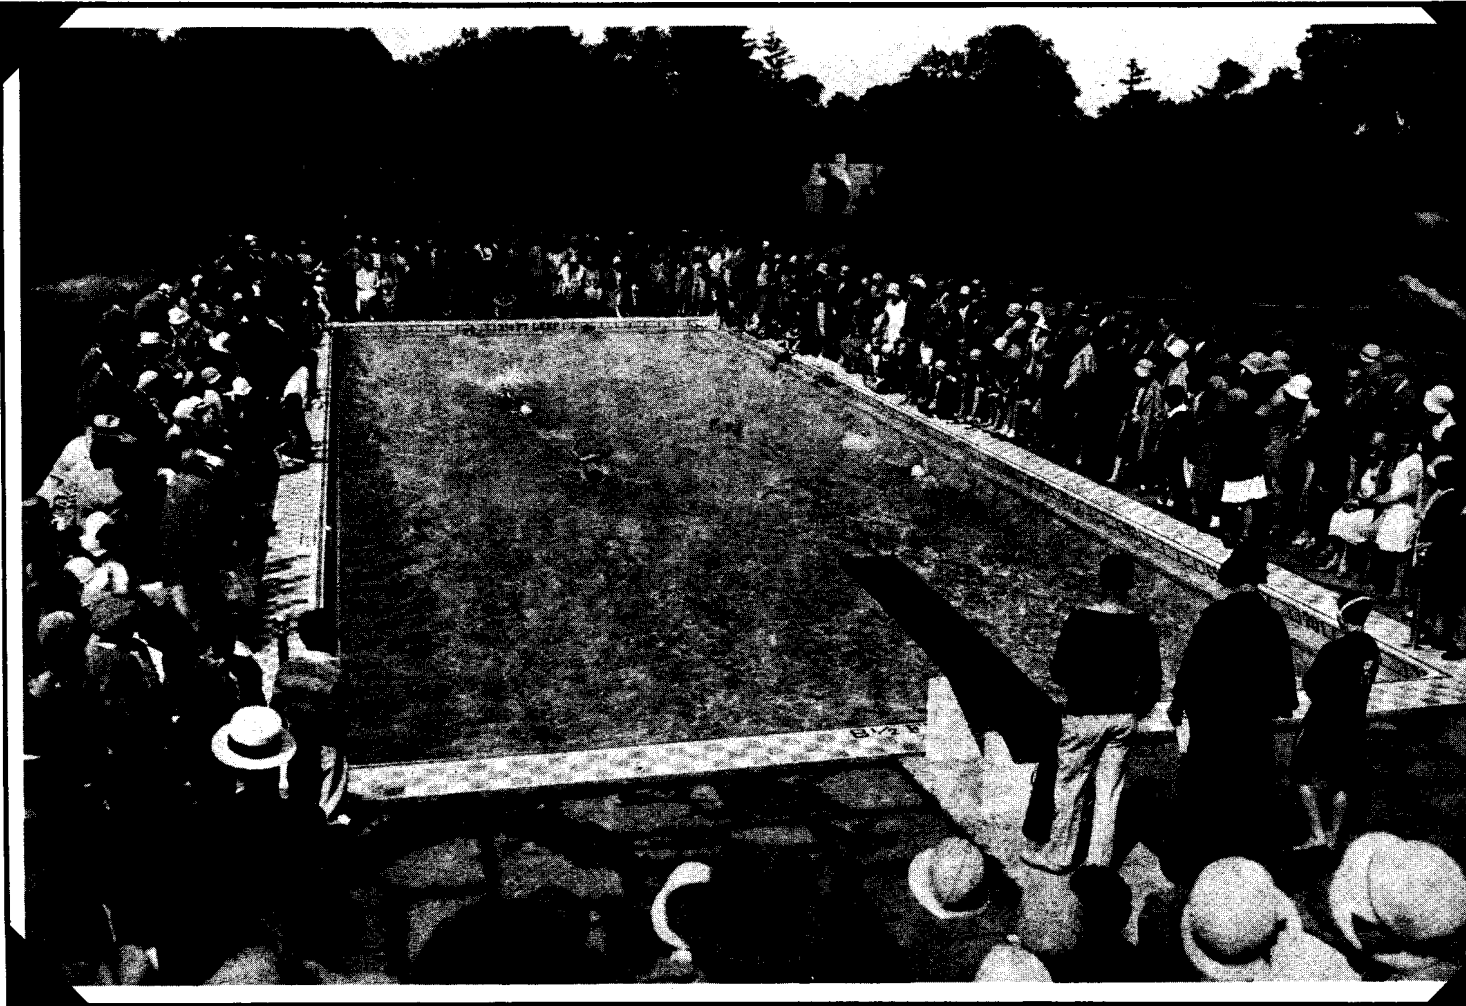

In 1965 for the second consecutive year, the OLTC swimming team went undefeated and again defeated the powerful Glen Ridge Country Club team, this time by 93-89. The lead see-sawed back and forth and the match wasn't won until the last event. First place winners for OLTC were Tim Jenkins, Debbie Renz, Mary Scranton, Steve Johnston, John Scranton, Cathy Renz, and John Renz. The winning free-style relay team was Tim Heekin, Don Wachenfeld, Chris Firth and Dave Firth.

Other members of the Swimming Team who contributed to these undefeated records were:

PLATFORM TENNIS

The first platform tennis court was built in Scarsdale, N.Y. in late 1928. The first platform tennis club in this area was the Tremont Place Paddle T.C. in Orange. Its members became adept so fast that they won the National Doubles in 1936 at the Field Club in Greenwich. Harold D. Holmes of the winning pair was a member of OLTC for many years. This Orange Club is so responsible for the invention of the sanded surface which is standard on all courts today. The advantages of this rough surface were immediately evident and adopted everywhere. The first championships were played in 1931 and forty-two teams competed. At this time, most courts were portable and layed on top of tennis courts. It is reported that the cost of the first court was $400.

Orange Lawn Tennis Club did not build its first court until the 1940's. The first recorded club championship was in 1947, and Henry M. Kennedy and Lawrence C. Ward Jr. were the winners.
